The Premier Speaks to the People

THE campaign for the election of the government of this province closes tonight.

We have placed the record of the government before you fully, fairly and frankly.

To the best of my ability, I have discharged my duty as leader of the Government and Prime Minister of the Province. The record of the government during the past three and a half years justifies your endorsement.

Our opponents are led by the same group you summarily rejected and dismissed at the last election.

We ask for your mandate to carry on our labours in your interest.

I renew the pledge given to the people of Ontario when they elected me to the high office of Premier of the Province, that "I will give the best that is in me to make this province a better place in which to live."

The verdict is in your hands.

I cannot stress too strongly the importance of a decisive vote being cast. The balance of power should not be in the hands of any minority group.

Good government can be maintained in this country under our democratic system only by informed electors discharging their full duty.

This necessitates every voter polling his or her vote.

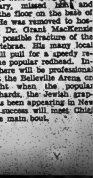

I urge you to vote to-morrow. As a citizen this is your first duty and responsibility.

WAR - - KIDNAPPING - - POLITICS - - DISASTER - -

BUT.... it's the LITTLE THINGS that count....

New drapes for the guest room, and Junior's first haircut. A new recipe for peach pie and new pans for baking it. A picnic at the beach, and a new hat for the weekly bridge. Every day events? Of course! But they're the things that make life livable! What's a war in Illyria and another Arctic expedition, compared to the thrill of the first glimpse of the family that's moving in next door, and the delivery of a shining new refrigerator? What's a royal wedding, and twelve rooms filled with gifts, when Anne has her fifth birthday tomorrow? They're interesting enough, something to talk about, to wonder at, perhaps, but pretty far away from that most important spot and the people who live there . . . your own home.

That's where your heart is, and that's where the real thrills lie, in the things that concern you and the people who live around you, next door, in the next block, anywhere in town. There's news about them in every issue of the daily Ontario Intelligencer in "inside page" stories—and in every ad too, for the ads in the Ontario Intelligencer are news! There's news about new clothes for the family, and new food for the table, and new furniture for the home. There's news about new entertainment, and new ways to get to it. There's news about something new on every page, from the latest dispatch on the front page to the new shoes for Anne on the last . . . all written to you and for you, put up in a neat package and delivered at your door-step every day.

The women's champion, the University of Western Ontario, will be in Toronto today to play the Queen's. The Queen's will be in Toronto tomorrow to play the University of Western Ontario. The Queen's will be in Toronto tomorrow to play the University of Western Ontario.

"... that was on March 26, 1870"

67 YEARS AGO THE DAILY ONTARIO WAS BORN

It's a long, long trail, looking backward. That goes for newspapers as well as for men. Let's pause for a moment and see how far we have come . . .

The first issue of the Daily Ontario was printed 67 years ago. That was on March 26, 1870. It was printed on a flat-bed steam press (quite a wonder in its day, too). Copy for that first issue was written in pencil and set by hand. There wasn't a typewriter, a telephone or a linotype machine in the Ontario office.

Our first issue makes fascinating reading today. It is like a history book vividly written in the present tense. Burning questions, long forgotten, come to life as you scan through the close-packed pages. The "new" buildings, many still standing and in use, Front Street, a dust trail in summer, a mud hole in winter—its paving in 1914 filled a good many columns.

Politics were taken strenuously in those days when the infant Daily Ontario was born and strong language was used in editorials and "Letters to the Editor", in strong contrast to the independence displayed today by both paper and public.

Those were the days when the "pot of gold at the foot of the rainbow" was sought assiduously by many in Hastings County and many promising prospects uncovered in Marmora, Madoc, Elzevir and Hungerford, while "El Dorado" was a magnet for fortune hunters.

In 1870 the Red River Rebellion made news and Louis Riel was "Front Page."

First advertisers in the Daily Ontario of 1870 included:

G. C. Holton & Co., dry goods, carpets, etc.

L. W. Yeomans & Co., druggists.

George Ritchie & Co., dry goods, etc.

Jamez W. Dunnett dry goods and groceries, known as "The Glasgow Warehouse."

Nathan Jones, dress goods, etc.

C. V. Bogart, shoes.

J. A. Mj Gilbert, sash and door factory.

Louis Roemig, undertaker.

Robertson & Henry, dry goods.
Mrs. Membership Millinery.

J. C. Holden, chemist and druggist.

Brown & St. Charles, carriage mfgs.

Walter Fanning, livery stable.

W. Dickens, refreshment rooms, wedding cakes, groceries, etc.

G. S. Tichell, furniture, undertaker, etc.

Conger Bros. teas, spices and coffees.

J. S. Mendell hatters.

After 67 years the Daily Ontario (now Ontario Intelligencer) wears its years lightly. We feel that these are good times to live in. We look forward confidently to a greater Belleville and to a future that will offer us opportunities for public service as yet unsuspected.

Many interesting happenings affecting the growth and prosperity of Belleville and Canada occurred during these 67 years of daily newspaper history, all duly recorded in this newspaper. The Weekly Ontario Chronicle goes back to 1837, one hundred years, while the Weekly Intelligencer dates even farther back.

OLDEST HUMAN PORTRAIT

Discovery of the oldest human portrait in the world—older by at least 16,000 years than any existing—was made today by Dr. Carl Abshan who has been a pioneer in digging up remains of the prehistoric mammoth hunters of Central Europe.

The portrait is a tiny head of a Stone Age man, roughly carved from a piece of bone found at Vestonice, Czechoslovakia, amid the bones of extinct mammoths and other relics.

Dr. Arthur Keith, writing in the current issue of the Illustrated London News, regards it as "definite and irrefragable proof that there was Leonardo da Vinci among the mammoth hunters of Moravia, a people who lived when Europe was still in the grip of the Ice Age."

There is a trace of the serene Mona Lisa expression in this little imp of prehistoric scientific scientific antiquity today and one of the most astonishing finds of archaeology in many years. Photographs of the noble and sensitive face, with arched ridges over the eyebrows, a long, tightly upturned nose and a long chin.

Until now diggers have found portraits of Stone Age artists of his fellow men, although striking likenesses of Stone Age animals were painted on the walls of caves in Spain and elsewhere, but never so religious superstition forbade Paleolithic man to reproduce the human face in a distorted and machine-like form.

But in prehistoric Moravia, according to Dr. Abshan, "some heretic, some sacrilegious, some rebel, rebelled against the taboo, and, in defiance of all tradition carved the portrait of a true face."

When the stone placed the portrait's discovery at $20,000 years; Sir Arthur Keith reduces it to 20,000 years but exults over it all the same.

He writes, "have anthropologists longed to have a realistic portrait of the extinct man they sought to reconstruct from the bare bones of skulls and now they have one. It is not merely the early history of Moravia that Dr. Abshan is opening up, but also the history of European forefathers and foremothers after their arrival in Central Europe."

SULPHUR FROM SMALLER CAGES

Pure sulphur was produced for the first time in Canada in 1936, when Consolidated Mining and Smelting Company of Canada, Ltd., after several years of research, introduced a new process for the recovery of sulphur from its waste smelter gases. The first unit of a commercial plant with a capacity for 400 tons of sulphur a day is now in operation, and a second unit of the same capacity is nearing completion. The new process, which recovers sulphur from its waste smelter gases, has been in operation for some time, and it is expected that the production of sulphur a year will be maintained when both units are in operation, and it is expected that the production of sulphur a year will be maintained when both units are in operation, and it is expected that the production of sulphur a year will be maintained when both units are in operation.

Commercial deposits of pure sulphur are not known to occur in Canada, and large tonnages are imported annually from the U. S. in the pulp and paper industry. Last year 168,774 tons of sulphur (ferrous or in roll or flour), valued at $2,400,000, were imported, according to the Dominion Bureau of Statistics.

Alderman Copper Corporation, Ltd., has announced a plan for the production of pure sulphur in operation at Niagara Falls, N.Y., but in this case the sulphur is produced by treating by-products from the company's operation at Alderman, Quebec. Including the sulphur content of pyrites shipped and estimated sulphur contained in sulphuric acid made from smaller gases, Alderman's total production of sulphur in 1936 amounted to 129,183 tons at a cost of $1,033,100.

ULSTER FAIRIES

Out of "Coming Events in Great Britain" the Times has issued a list of the industrial Development Association of Great Britain and Ireland is taken the following great interest in their country's birth or ancestry traces back to Ireland, the land of fairies.

With a picture house in every village, the wireless in every home, the popular Press at every doorstep, and everyone's foot on the accelerator, "civilized" man and beast to conform to a type. There is no isolation, and rural serenity is less serene. Superstitions and distinctive customs are difficult to survive. The more the city!

It is good to report, however, that all the Ulster have no left to be proud of should not the belief in them still prevail? See the landscape bathed in the silver light of the harvest moon, and it is more difficult not to believe in the ravels of the "little folk" than to pooh-pooh their existence. The tales of the north but is dotted with raths and mounds, with here and there an ancient castle in picturesque decay. At the moonlight nights out troop the fairies from their unseen dwellings here to prance and gyrate in their mystic dances. Their residences are as green as the grass over which they gambol. Their bushes are a favorite rendezvous and here they deposit themselves in country houses. Halliwell is one of their great carnival nights and there are country houses where at this festival, as on May eve, the fairies are seen with flowers in offering to the nimble villagers.

St. Patrick banished the snakes and the snakes which has slithered back to Ulster would be loth to part with the fairies.

BUT .... it's the LITTLE THINGS that count ....

New drapes for the guest room, and Junior's first haircut. A new recipe for peach pie and new pans for baking it. A picnic at the beach, and a new hat for the weekly bridge. Every day events? Of course! But they're the things that make life livable! What's a war in Illyria and another Arctic expedition, compared to the thrill of the first glimpse of the family that's moving in next door, and the delivery of a shining new refrigerator? What's a royal wedding, and twelve rooms filled with gifts, when Anne has her fifth birthday tomorrow? They're interesting enough, something to talk about, to wonder at, perhaps, but pretty far away from that most important spot and the people who live there . . . your own home.

That's where your heart is, and that's where the real thrills lie, in the things that concern you and the people who live around you, next door, in the next block, anywhere in town. There's news about them in every issue of the daily Ontario Intelligencer in "inside page" stories—and in every ad too, for the ads in the Ontario Intelligencer are news! There's news about new clothes for the family, and new food for the table, and new furniture for the home. There's news about new entertainment, and new ways to get to it. There's news about something new on every page, from the latest dispatch on the front page to the new shoes for Anne on the last . . . all written to you and for you, put up in a neat package and delivered at your door-step every day.

The photo was made when Der Fuehrer attended the harvest festival at Bad Pyrmont recently. Although there were 1,200,000 persons a festival, few saw the dictator in a lighter mood, for he was surrounded by a solid wall of bodyguards. The girl signally honored by Fuehrer seems to be having a fine time of her life, if her benevolent countenance is any criterion.

GIRL'S BEDROOM
Mr. and Mrs. Lang heard their daughter scream shortly after midnight. There was a pause—then a scream; another pause—and another scream. Mrs. Lang ran to the window, screaming for help. Mr. Lang ran to a neighbor's house. He returned with a friend and the three went to the bedroom.
The parents saw their daughter, dressed in a nightgown, sitting on the floor, weeping and sobbing. She saw and was shattered by the sight.
Her body was now covered in blood.
The floor was in his right temple. A few words were said.
No suspect.
Dr. Leonard Gallagher, Belleville, was called and he notified Dr. Wilson, who hurried to the Lake House.
He said the facts of the tragedy were clear and an inquest would be necessary.
It was a very small apartment, about 12 inches long and 10 inches wide. It was the kind usually used for shooting parties, and had been loaded with fine birdshot. One bullet from a .22 caliber Remington shotgun had struck the girl in the head and she had died.
Mrs. Lang was rushed to operation at a hospital near where she lived at Toronto.

Revenues Outrunning Expectations Says H. J. L. Haley

Windsor, Ont., Oct. 21 (CP)—In a quiet speech on political issues, H. J. L. Haley, Minister of National Revenue, painted a bright picture of Canada's future in his first public appearance after his return from a League of Nations Conference in Geneva.

Speaking from Windsor, Haley told of better relations between the provinces and the Dominion, rising revenues, trade agreements increased construction throughout the country and an increase of 40 per cent in the export trade of the Dominion.

The problem of Dominion-province relations was "the greatest problem confronting the government," he said, but added he held high hopes the National Revenue Minister spoke of the "outbreak of sectionalism" that had plagued for a century satisfactory basis," he declared. "The report of the Royal Commission will be notable in the history of Canada."

Deficit Being Reduced

Canada's "deficit was being brought down," he stated, to within a few million of a balanced budget. "It is a fact," he said, "that we are in sight of a balanced budget."

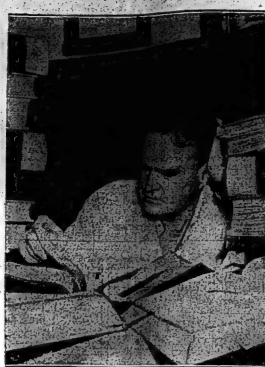

The government wished to see that no part of the Dominion or no one industry should be behind in the progress toward prosperity. Mr. Haley continued, "It is a fact to extend our help to all parts of Canada that require it. These agreements have been made with many countries, with a view to helping industries in his only reference to Alberta, a National Revenue Minister spoke of the "outbreak of sectionalism" that had plagued for a century satisfactory basis," he declared. "The report of the Royal Commission will be notable in the history of Canada."

STOCK EXCHANGE MEDIA AS PRICES TUMBLE

Stock brokers in most large cities hurried hard and long when heavy selling on New York and Toronto markets caused stock prices to drop to their lowest level since the crash of July 20, 1929. Brokers resigned on the market floor and dealers were unable to keep up with the volume of the sale on the floor.

Too Many Train For Clean Jobs

By GARRY C. KIRBY, JR., R.
Head Departmental Personnel Director,
Canadian Customs, Ottawa, Ontario,
Canada (Continued)

IN MANY places there is a shortage of actual jobs but an over-supply of employees looking for white collar jobs. This fact makes a most serious problem for the absorption of WPA work in the private industry. This fact also has caused great numbers of intelligent and capable young people.

Students and hundreds of youths who could find places to work have been preferred to half salary themselves in order to climb as they have hoped into white collar or professional jobs a day already over-credited, and offering hardly as much economic security as the actual industrial jobs are needed.

And our public schools operated on the democratic principle of providing the needs with what it wants rather than what it needs, may be partly to blame for this situation.

In Cleveland, for example, 35 per cent of the students in the senior high school are taking courses in the business and professional training courses (preparation for white collar jobs). In the same school, 21 per cent taking technical courses, 15 per cent taking vocational courses, and 17 per cent taking industrial or trade courses. This is a very high percentage of students taking white collar jobs.

After that, the U. S. Bureau of Census states that in the United States, the percentage of students taking white collar jobs is 35 per cent; transportation, 15 per cent; mechanical, 15 per cent; and other, 15 per cent.

Belt is Important Now That Waist is Slim

Paris Couturiers Centering Interest on the Midriff, Dressing It Smartly

By LINNETT

WASHINGTON is the almost sure prime source for the latest fashion. From couturiers, the fashioning of the waist, or making it as narrow as possible, is the first thing that comes to the mind of the designer.

As an outcome of all this, the waist is wearing a new look. It is no longer a simple, straight line, but a curve that is both elegant and smart.

The Association of Dressmakers, Inc., which is a well-known organization, is centering its interest on the midriff, dressing it smartly.

It is in making or creating the waist that the designer is at his best. It is a time when he is at his best, and he is at his best when he is at his best.

INDIAN'S NEW MANAGER CELEBRATES

The Ocar VIII household had a double reason for whooping it up—the first was their 22nd wedding anniversary and the second, Ocar was named to pilot the Cleveland Indians' his first managerial opportunity in major league baseball. Bob VIII, 17-year-old son, is adding his parents in the celebration at their home in Oakland, Calif. VIII piloted the Newark Bears to the pennant in the International League and then defeated the Columbus team in the Little World Series. Previously he had managed Salt Lake City, Hollywood and Oakland of the Pacific Coast League. He broke in with the Detroit team in 1912 and wound up his big-time third base chores with the Red Sox in 1921.

EXPLORER LANDS AT WINNIPEG - ON SECOND SEASON FLIGHT

Sir Hubert Wilkes, noted Arctic explorer and H. Hollick-Kenyon, well-known Canadian flier, are shown in the lower photograph as they were greeted by Mayor F. K. Wexthorn, of Winnipeg, upon their arrival in the western city prior to beginning a second search for the lost Russian polar fliers. The huge aeroplane which they will use during the search, a Lockheed Electra, is shown in the upper photograph. Embellished on its fuselage is the "COBRA" of the Soviet, before leaving for the north, Sir Hubert Wilkes will fly to Montreal to make last minute arrangements and to meet W. R. Wilson, Toronto, who will act as radio operator for the search party.

GETTING DOWN TO WORK AT LABOR PEACE CONFERENCE

Looking as if they really meant business, three of the conferees in the big peace parley between the warring factions of organized labor are shown at the opening session in Washington, D. C. LEFT TO RIGHT, Sidney Hillman, of the Committee for Industrial Organization delegation; George Harrison, chairman of the American Federation of Labor delegation and Phil Murray, chairman of the C.I.O. delegation.

FORMER MONARCH USES STREET CAR FOR TRANSPORTATION

In a pose not usually associated with an ex-monarch, Alfonso, former ruler of Spain, is shown ABOVE, digging down into his pocket for street car fare at Switzerland. The ex-king seems a little worried, but is likely about whether he has the ticket and not about affairs in war-torn Spain.

"AS ADVERTISED"

—IN THE LOCAL DAILY

It's local advertising that dictates the purchasing policies of women in buying centres throughout the Province. Women depend on local advertising to tell them what, and when, and where to buy.

National advertising, when it reaches the woman through her own Local Daily, reaches her when she is most readily influenced by the advertisement.

It is that advertising in Local Dailies gives the national advertiser a true point-of-sale contact. No other medium can give you the same direct results—sales.

What do Retailers say?

"When national advertising plans for a local campaign, it is in the local paper that it should be placed."

"The local paper is the best place to put a campaign. The local paper is the best place to put a campaign."
